

DR NICOLAS HADJINICOLAOU
ORTHOPAEDIC SURGEON – HAND SURGEON
(Short CV)

He graduated from the Medical School of the University of Patras in 2003. He has specialized for six years in Orthopedic and Traumatology at the KAT Hospital of Athens. He has been specialized for 3.5 years in the field of Microsurgery Upper and Lower Limb, in the Department of Microsurgery and Hand Clinic, KAT Hospital of Athens. He was trained in the field of Arthroscopic Interventions and Sports Injuries, at the Sports Injury Clinic of the KAT Athens Hospital and at Private Clinics in Athens.

He is a PhD candidate of the Kapodistrian University of Athens.

He was trained at the Universtat de Barcelona on the Minimum Interventional Surgical Techniques (transdermal) of foot lesion deformities.

He was trained in Basic + Advance Wrist Arthroscopy at the IRCAD Laparoscopic Training Center in Strasbourg, France.

He participated in Announcements, Publications and Presentations at various European and International Conferences, culminating in his participation in the Pan-American Orthopedic Congress in 2010. He attended dozens of educational Congresses and seminars around the world.

He is an Active Member of the Greek (EEXOT) and Cypriot (KEXOT) Orthopedic Society, EWAS, ICRS and MIS FOOT SURGERY (GRECMIP).

From 2012 until today he is in the Head Doctor of the Famagusta Anorthosis Famagusta F.C.